NorCross Handheld Sonar System Packs Most Features and Expands Opportunities For Boaters and Outdoorsmen

Orlando, Florida - March 4, 2003 - NorCross Marine Products announced the release of their most recent HawkEye® Portable Freedom creation, the Handheld Depth Sounder, DF2120PX, which provides depth, temperature, and fish readings. "The DF2120PX is the most versatile handheld depth sounder ever produced," explains Greg Lentine, NorCross Marine Products, Inc. President. "It opens up a whole new world to water sports enthusiasts," he added.

The DF2120PX provides instant depth readings from 2.5 to 120 feet in 1/10th precision, real time water and air temperature from 14 to 122 degrees fahrenheit, and SideScan™ fish readings. Use it in the winter to shoot through ice before cutting your hole. Use it in the summer while diving as a range finder and temperature meter. Use it as a backup depth sounder on your pleasure boat. The DF2120PX boasts more features than any handheld depth sounder and fits into almost any water sports situation.

The SideScan features uses sonar to detect drop-offs, ledges, and hiding fish within 120 feet. Scan under weeds, lily pads, and docks for trophy lunkers before making your cast. Scan harbor entrances for channels, submerged objects, or ledges before risking damage to your boat.

The DF2120PX measures 7" tall and weighs only 7.5 oz with battery installed. The one-inch LCD screen is illuminated by green SoftGlow™ backlighting and the transducer frequency is 200 KHZ with a 20 degree beam angle. The DF2120PX is waterproof up to 50 feet and operates on one 9-Volt battery. The battery life is 10 hours of continuous use.

MSRP is $119.99 for the DF2120PX and it is guaranteed with a two-year limited warranty. The DF2120PX is available at major sports retailers and online at norcrossmarine.com.
